Identity Theft & Security Center Program

Identity Theft

Welcome to the Lifestyle Innovations Premier Identity Theft and Security Center Program Featuring Restoration Rescue®

Our Identity Theft and Security Center Program featuring Restoration Rescue® has been designed to help you and your family avoid the fastest growing crime in the country – identity theft.

Activate your Restoration Rescue Coverage today. Get covered – Be covered.

1. Activate Now – Click here to activate your individual complimentary coverage*
2. Get Your Certificate of Coverage - if you've already activated, click here to request a copy
3. Notify Us if you have an Identity Theft Issue - click here to notify us now

The 2016 Identity Fraud Study released by Javelin Strategy & Research, revealed the number of identity fraud victims was at its second highest level in six years, but the amount stolen was at its lowest point in the past six years. Identity fraud is a serious issue as fraudsters have stolen $112 billion in the past six years. That equals $35,600 stolen per minute, or enough to pay for four years of college in just four minutes. Fraudsters have reacted by moving away from existing card fraud to focus on new account fraud. This drove a 113 percent increase in incidence of new account fraud, which now accounts for 20 percent of all fraud losses.

Suggested Safety Tips to Protect Consumers:

- Stay Safe Online
- Secure your mobile device
As consumers transition more of their financial lives to smart phones and tablets, these devices have become high-profile targets for both cyber crooks and thieves alike. To help protect against criminals from getting their hands on valuable personal information, apply software updates as soon as they become available and take advantage of the security capabilities built into Android and iOS devices, such as protecting the device with a pass code or biometric (such as a fingerprint), and the ability to encrypt and remotely wipe the contents of the device in the event it is stolen.
- Exercise good password habits
Passwords have remained the de facto first line of defense for most online accounts, which has motivated criminals to compromise them whenever possible. Using strong, unique, regularly updated passwords helps reduce the value to fraudsters of passwords stolen in a data breach or through malware.
- Take advantage of EMV and mobile payments
Recently introduced to the U.S., EMV chip cards and mobile payment solutions (such as Apple Pay), can reduce the value of payment data to cyber thieves, as they introduce security factors which make misusing the data much more difficult when compared to traditional magnetic stripe cards.
- Sign up for account alerts
A variety of financial service providers, including depository institutions, credit card issuers and brokerages, provide their customers with the option to receive notifications of suspicious activity. These notifications can often be received through email or text message, making some notifications immediate, and some go so far as to allow their customers to specify the scenarios under which they want to be notified so as to reduce false alarms
- Seek help as soon as fraud is detected
The more immediate a financial institution, credit card issuer, wireless carrier or other service provider is notified that fraud has occurred on an account, the sooner these organizations can act to limit the damage. Early notification can also help limit the liability of a victim in some cases, as well as allow more time for law enforcement to catch the fraudsters in the act.

Choose to set fraud alerts on your credit files, reduce the amount of junk mail your family receives and get copies of your credit reports. You can also document your credit card information, driver's license and insurance policy numbers all in one safe location.

And if you ever become a victim of Identity Theft, Restoration Rescue® and our skilled licensed attorneys will act on your behalf to resolve the situation and restore your credit without fees or deductibles*.

Take Control! Additional tips to safeguard your identity

Be consistent with your routine of checking. You can do a lot of it yourself. Watch your bank account statements, credit cards and other online accounts. Other signs can be:

- You see withdrawals from your bank account that you can't explain - You don't get your bills or other mail.
- Debt collectors call you about debts that aren't yours - You find unfamiliar accounts or charges on your credit report.
- Medical providers bill you for services you didn't use.
- A health plan won't cover you because your medical records show a condition you don't have.
- The IRS notifies you that more than one tax return was filed in your name, or that you have income from an employer you don't work for.
- You get notice that your information was compromised by a data breach at a company where you do business or have an account.

You must be a Lifestyle Innovations Premier member in good standing. Your Restoration Service must have been activated. Click here to review your Terms & Conditions. Your Identity Theft Restoration team is available during regular business hours. This information should not be used in lieu of legal advice. Not all Financial Institutions offer this program. This program is only available to Financial Institution members who have selected this as an added benefit.*

Only one individual activation per email address. If more than one individual is sharing the same email address and would like to activate their complimentary coverage, we will be happy to assist you. Please call us for a Restoration Rescue® packet, including the Terms and Conditions. Upon receipt, please sign and complete the form and return as instructed. Restoration Rescue® coverage begins ten business days from this date of activation and receipt of original signed form.*

Identity Theft

Your Child is Covered

Child identity theft occurs when a child's identity is used by another person for their personal gain. Parents or relatives are usually the first to notice something is not right. Did you know your minor children are automatically enrolled within your activated Restoration Rescue® coverage at no additional expense?*

Activate your Restoration Rescue Coverage today. Get covered – Be covered.

1. Activate Now – Click here to activate your individual complimentary coverage*
2. Get Your Certificate of Coverage - if you've already activated, click here to request a copy
3. Notify Us if you have an Identity Theft Issue - click here to notify us now

Discovery often comes:

- When attempting to open a savings account or college fund for the child.
- When numerous pre-approved credit card offers come in the name of the child.
- When credit cards, checks, bills or bank statements are sent in the name of the child.
- When collection agencies call or send letters about accounts not opened by the child.
- When a teen is denied a driver's license because another person has their Social Security Number as their ID.

*Your Identity Theft Restoration Services must be activated for each member in the primary account; your minor children residing in your household are automatically enrolled within your activation and your coverage begins 10 business days from the date of your validated activation. Minor children are covered up to the day before their eighteenth (18th) birthday, providing you are his or her parent or legal guardian and have previously activated your Restoration Rescue® coverage. *within the guidelines of the Terms & Conditions of this program. This information should not be used in lieu of legal advice.

Additional tips and information

If you suspect and have some reason to believe your child's identity has been used and you are the child's parent or court-appointed guardian, you may write the three Credit Reporting Agencies to see if there are credit reports in that child's Social Security Number. The best news would be "there is no report".

Parents can set a fraud alert for children under the age of 18 by mailing a letter of explanation. Parents will need to submit their request in writing, as federal law prohibits the credit agencies from collecting a minor's personal information via the Web. This information should be provided to each credit bureau. If a minor child already has a credit file with that agency, the organization will then set an alert and forward a copy of their credit report to the parents.

Lost Document Recovery

As a member, who has activated their Restoration Service, you have coverage to help with lost document recovery. Having your purse or wallet stolen can be less of a headache with assistance from Restoration Rescue™.

Fortunately, you can replace most important personal records. You can get your records based on the location of the birth, death, marriage or divorce - contact your state's motor vehicle department to get or replace your Driver's License - submit specific forms to replace stolen passports, in person, at a passport agency or acceptance facility.

Credit cards are better protected by federal law as to the amount of money that you are responsible for if lost or stolen, and most companies now extend a zero liability policy to customers.

Restoration Rescue™ will reimburse you for the cost of replacing documents, related to your covered Stolen Identity Theft event, up to a maximum of $250 per primary account, per lifetime.*

Please send us a copy of your documentation showing proof of payment for those items and we will send you a check, as payment for the approved amount covered.

Submit to:
Generations Gold, Inc.
c/o Restoration Rescue™
525 S. Flagler Drive, Suite 401
West Palm Beach, FL 33401

Note: Please allow 30 days for processing of approved payment. Stolen documents must have been part of a covered Stolen Identity Theft event, under the Terms and Conditions of your Identity Theft Program. Your Restoration Service must have been activated for coverage to begin after the 10-business day waiting period.*

Identity Theft

Fraud Alerts

Set fraud alerts! A fraud alert is a notation placed in your file with the credit reporting agencies that states that suspicious activity has been discovered in your credit file, and alerts creditors that they need to contact you and verify your identity before extending credit to anyone claiming to be you.

- You may place a fraud alert in your file by notifying just one of the three nationwide consumer credit reporting companies. As soon as that agency processes your fraud alert, they will notify the other two, who then must also place fraud alerts in your file.
- Parents can set a fraud alert for children under the age of 18 by mailing a letter of explanation. Parents will need to submit their request in writing, as federal law prohibits the credit agencies from collecting a minor's personal information via the Web. This information should be provided to each credit bureau. If a minor child already has a credit file with that agency, the organization will then set an alert and forward a copy of their credit report to the parents.
- When your alert has been activated, you'll receive a confirmation in the mail from the bureau.
- Remember, you won't be able to sign up for in-store credit offers, or get instant approval for online credit applications. You'll have to go through a verification process so that the bureaus don't think it's the perpetrator opening up another card. And if you're in the process of a buying a home or a car, you'll have to let the loan officer know what's on your file so that no red flags are raised.
- If you want to remove a fraud alert, put it in writing, and write your name, social security number, current and old addresses, date of birth and send it all to the credit bureaus via certified mail.
- TransUnion (800) 680-7289, Experian (888) 397-3742 and Equifax (800) 525-6285.

Credit Reports

A credit report includes information on where you live, how you pay your bills, and whether you've been sued or have filed for bankruptcy. The Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) requires each of the nationwide credit reporting companies — Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion — to provide you with a free copy of your credit report, at your request, once every 12 months.

- You want a copy of your credit report to help guard against identity theft. That's when someone uses your personal information — like your name, your Social Security number, or your credit card number — to commit fraud.
- Under the FCRA, both the credit reporting company and the information provider (that is, the person, company, or organization that provides information about you to a consumer reporting company) are responsible for correcting inaccurate or incomplete information in your report.
- Tell the credit reporting company, in writing, what information you think is inaccurate. Credit reporting companies must investigate the items in question — usually within 30 days — unless they consider your dispute frivolous. They also must forward all the relevant data you provide about the inaccuracy to the organization that provided the information.
- After the information provider receives notice of a dispute from the credit reporting company, it must investigate, review the relevant information, and report the results back to the credit reporting company. If the information provider finds the disputed information is inaccurate, it must notify all three nationwide credit reporting companies so they can correct the information in your file.
- When the investigation is complete, the credit reporting company must give you the written results and a free copy of your report if the dispute results in a change.

STEP 1

Click the link below to receive your credit report.

Annual Credit Report.com

You can request your report online at annualcreditreport.com; you should be able to access it immediately. If you order your report by calling toll-free (877) 322.8228, your report will be processed and mailed to you within 15 days. If you order your report by mail using the Annual Credit Report Request Form, your request will be processed and mailed to you within 15 days of receipt.

Junk Mail Reduction

You can elect to be removed from prescreened solicitations for credit and insurance offers, thereby reducing the possibility of the information getting into the wrong hands. These lists are sold by all three credit bureaus. If you choose to opt-out, you will no longer be included in these solicitation lists.

For additional junk mail reduction, we have also provided a link to a website that enables you to opt-out of specific catalog mailings and to select specific catalogs you do NOT wish to receive.

Within 60 days you should begin to see a decrease in the number of offers you receive; however, you will continue to get offers from companies you do business with, unless you tell them specifically to stop sending the offers. You may continue to receive offers from sources that do not use the Consumer Credit Reporting agencies. If you decide at a later date that you would like to start receiving these offers again, you can return to this link and opt-In again.

Perry's Cruise Corner

Is a Beverage Package Right for You?

Most cruise lines offer different types of beverage packages. You can potentially save on your overall bar tab and enjoy the convenience of not paying for each order. But there may be a guideline (everyone in the stateroom must buy a package) that is not the best option for you during your first time or repeat voyage.

All cruise line offers vary on the package and what's included. We have provided three major cruise line drink packages below to give you an example of what you can expect. Hopefully this information, for entertainment purposes, is helpful. Drink responsibly.

Booking Shore Excursions

Should I buy the cruise line's shore excursions or do it independently?

This is a question that I get asked quite frequently. Booking an independent excursion, rather than taking the cruise line's official shore excursions, runs one major risk - if you're unexpectedly delayed when returning to the ship, the ship won't wait for you. It could run you a little extra money, but a cruise line will delay departure if one of its own official shore excursions is running later than expected.

When is a good time to book a cruise line's organized tour?

A good time to book is when you are a first time cruiser. Visiting a port of call in a foreign place for one day is very different than spending a week in that city. Your time is limited and the ship will not wait if you are late.

You are on vacation and do not need to stress about time management. It's worth the extra money to book a few ship tours until you've figured out the port of call drill.

Documents needed to take a cruise!!!

U.S. Citizens on closed-loop cruises will be able to enter or depart the country on the cruise with proof of citizenship, such as an original or copy of his or her birth certificate (issued by the Vital Records Department in the state where he or she was born) and, if 16 or older, a government issued photo ID. The United States does not require you to have a passport. (A Consular report of Birth Abroad issued by the Department of State or a Certificate of Naturalization is also acceptable.)

Most cruises beginning and ending in the U.S. are considered "Closed Loop," meaning they begin and end at the same port in the U.S. For instance, if you board a cruise ship at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, and after visiting at least one foreign port of call, such as Bermuda, or Cancun, return back to Fort Lauderdale, you have taken a closed loop cruise.
